

Barnsley Canal: from the River Calder at Wakefield to Barnsley and on to Barnby Basin

The Barnsley Canal - a map of how it was in its heyday - derived from several engravings. The basic information dates from 1838 and 1839, but there were some later revisions, principally to the railways, not all of which were necessarily made to both sections of the map.

